AMOSC/APPEA Surveillance Workshop

Friday 24 May 2019

8.30am – 12.30pm

Crown Burswood

The Australian Marine Oil Spill Centre and Australian Petroleum Producers and Exploration Association will host a free surveillance workshop during the morning to explore issues around data acquisition, data management and decision making based on surveillance planning under the cover of an Incident Action Plan. This workshop is designed to broach the issues around how to create a surveillance plan that provides fidelity and confidence during a response around aspects of sensor use, data analysis and decision making based on appropriate levels of information being provided both in-field and in an incident command centre.

Register online as part of your Spillcon 2019 Registration Process.

If already registered for Spillcon 2019, please email katie@con-sol.com to reserve your spot on this Friday Surveillance Workshop.
