

SPILLCON

20 – 24 May 2019
Perth, Australia

SPEAKER

Angus Mitchell

Angus Mitchell is the General Manager of Maritime Safety Queensland, a branch of the Department of Transport and Main Roads. Prior to commencing in his current role, Angus held the position of Executive Director of NSW Maritime and was a member of the Roads and Maritime Services (RMS) Executive Team.

Angus has an extensive amount of experience in the maritime industry having spent 4 years as the Deputy Harbour Master for Sydney and Port Botany, which was preceded by a 17 year military career spanning postings and operational deployments across the globe. Angus is fluent in Indonesian after having spent a considerable amount of time working in South East Asia and the Middle East post 9/11.

Outside of work Angus has provided leadership and resilience training to a variety of sporting bodies including Australian Olympic and professional football teams.

A graduate of the University of Sydney with an Honours degree in Education, Angus is married with three teenage children and has made a permanent move to Queensland and resides in Brisbane.