

SPILLCON

20 – 24 May 2019
Perth, Australia

SPEAKER

David Imhoff

David Imhoff has been with AMSA since 2012 in incident response positions. He is currently the Senior Advisor, Crisis Preparedness in the Response Division. At AMSA he manages the National Plan exercise Program and the AMSA/Fire Rescue New South Wales fielded Hazardous and Noxious Substance Reconnaissance Team. Recently he was the first AMSA officer to arrive at the Solomon Islands for the MV Solomon Trader response where he provided support and advice to the Solomon Islands Government and the Australian High Commission.

David has been involved in emergency and risk management for over 20 years including with the Department of Foreign Affairs and Trade, Emergency Management Australia and the Protective Security Coordination Centre. He responded to events as wide ranging as global epidemics, evacuations, terrorist bombings and the 2004 Indian Ocean Tsunami. He has coordinated security for Australian dignitaries abroad and visitors to Australia. David was awarded the Order of Australia Medal for his role in the response to the 2002 Bali bombings.
