

SPILLCON

20 – 24 May 2019
Perth, Australia

SESSION CHAIR

Paul Barrett

Paul has a substantial career in public policy development, strategic planning and development, economics and corporate governance in corporate, government and academic roles. AIP Paul joined AIP in 2003 and has worked on petrol pricing and regulation, fuel taxation reform processes, national fuel quality standards and incentives, liquid fuel supply security, refinery industry policy, and climate change.

Prior to joining AIP, Paul was the Senior Adviser for Competition and Energy Policy and Senior Advisor for the Environment in the Department of the Prime Minister and Cabinet. The role included competition policy, Timor Sea Treaty negotiations, upstream oil and gas policy development, biofuels policy development, climate change, the national access regime, national fuel quality standards, downstream petroleum industry policy, and strategic investment incentives.