

SPILLCON

20 – 24 May 2019
Perth, Australia

SPEAKER

Raymond Buchholz

Raymond Buchholz is currently the General Manager Marine Safety at the Western Australia Department of Transport – Marine Safety. This role is responsible for the delivery of the marine safety program in Western Australia to enable the safe and sustainable use of navigable waters in order to promote economic and social prosperity of West Australians.

The role includes fulfilling the function of Hazard Management Agency for maritime transport emergencies and marine oil spill incidents and the management of maritime operations within Shipping & Pilotage Ports throughout WA. The role also includes responsibility for the delivery of an integrated policy and waterways safety management approach to marine safety, the provision of navigation aids in State waters and provision of a wide range of related services.

Ray's previous roles include Director Waterways Safety Management and Manager Navigational Safety and Compliance. In addition Ray has 28 years' service in the Australian Army Reserve.