

SPILLCON

20 – 24 May 2019
Perth, Australia

SPEAKER

Dr Thomas Coolbaugh

Dr Thomas Coolbaugh is an Oil Spill Response Advisor for Exxon Mobil Corporation's Safety, Security, Health and Environment Support organization. He is Vice Chair of IPIECA's Oil Spill Working Group, a member of the API Spills Advisory Group, the Marine Preservation Association Dispersant Advisory Committee, and the science advisory panel of the University of New Hampshire/NOAA Coastal Response Research Center. He was a member of the committee that prepared the National Research Council report on "Responding to Oil Spills in the U.S. Arctic Marine Environment." His focus is often on the subject of the science and regulatory aspects of the use of dispersants during an oil spill. He is a member of the recently formed US National Academies of Science, Engineering and Medicine Committee on The Evaluation of the Use of Chemical Dispersants in Oil Spill Response. Tom received his B.A. in chemistry from Amherst College (Thesis Advisor: Dave Dooley), a Ph.D. in chemistry from Caltech (Advisor: Professor Robert Grubbs, 2005 Nobel Laureate), and obtained an M.S. in the Management of Technology from New York University.
